ICPA-FORUM NEWSLETTER APRIL 2008

ICPA-FORUM RESEARCH COLLABORATION:

The ICPA-Forum is honored to collaborate with the Charles B. Rangel Center for Public Service and the Colin Powell Center for Policy Studies at the City College of New York, CUNY on a research initiative backed by a Ford Foundation grant. The study is keeping with the mission of the Charles B. Rangel Center, and comparatively investigates the promotion of under-represented populations in managerial/executive positions within public service and throughout the policy process. The ICPA-Forum contribution is in assisting with the development of a comparative survey investigating patterns of support, skills, and diversity in the public service, to be distributed in MPP/MPA Schools, US.

JCPA CONTRIBUTION IN EUROPA/WORLD'S WHO'S WHO:

We are pleased to advise of the recognition of the JCPA's standards and contribution in the publishing world: Routledge has acknowledged and recommended the JCPA and its founding editor for entry inclusion in this prestigious publication for high editorial standards, strict reviewing process, scholarly quality, and innovative approaches to disseminating knowledge, as well as for significant contribution to the field of comparative policy studies.
